Pictured above are Robert and William Sorenson holding four geese which they brought down while hunting at Houghton Lake on October 24th. The bag included one snow and three blue geese. The snow was the largest of the bag, weighed six pounds and eight ounces. The snow was leading the flock from which the two Grayling hunters took the four geese.

Vikings Drop Grid Season Finale To East Jordan By 27 to 12 Score

The Grayling Vikings inability to stop two long kickoff returns for touchdowns lost them the 1938 season gridiron finale here last Friday night with the East Jordan Red Devils, 27 to 12.

With the exception of the two lapses on the kickoffs, Grayling played the Red Devils even up. The team as a whole turned in a much better performance both offensively and defensively.

Grayling outplayed the Red Devils as far as the statistics were concerned, but not on the scoreboard. The Vikings rolled up 14 first downs to 9 for East Jordan. East Jordan gained 205 rushing yards while Grayling rushed for 202 yards. The Vikings however, added 55 yards more by passing as quarter-back Steve Sink completed 5, one for 11 yards and a touchdown to Dave Wyman.

East Jordan led 21 to 0 at the half. Grayling took the second half kickoff on their 20 and on a sustained drive went in for the score. On the next kickoff, East Jordan again went all the way to kick the door in the green and white's face.

This season marked the end of high school football careers for eight players. They are: Captain Curt Haas, John Cox, Larry LaRue, Bill Lucksted, Tom Galvani, Bill Weaver, Phil Faustman and Tony Maurer.

While Grayling was losing to East Jordan, the Northern Class Conference champions, the Charlevoix Red Devils were winning at Harbor Springs, 67 to 0 to win their seventh straight conference game without ever being defeated.

Industry Wants City Planning

Community planning is becoming a more important consideration in a program for attracting new industry. Manufacturers are convinced it is advantageous to place new plants in areas that have plans for future growth.

A lot of ground no longer is sufficient to attract an industry. What is wanted is a suitable location in an area that permits expansion in a community that has an orderly program for future growth.

Industry takes a broad view as it determines location of a new plant. It is interested in a community that has a master plan that provides for adequate streets, designated areas for residential, commercial and industrial growth, schools that provide sufficient classrooms, municipal sewer and water services that can be expanded to meet local growth.

If your community does not have a planning commission and adequate zoning, it should take steps to see they are inaugurated as soon as possible. If there is a planning commission, efforts should be made to have a master plan adopted. If there is a master plan residents of the area should make certain its provisions are implemented in an orderly manner.

These things cannot be accomplished by municipal officials without public support. Need for adequate planning is outlined in an industrial development advertisement carried in The Avalanche today. The advertisement is the sixth in a series of 26 sponsored by Michigan Press Association and the Michigan Economic Development Department. The series of advertisements is being carried in 308 Michigan newspapers.

Flames Destroy Boys Cabin Play House

The Grayling Fire Department was called to the Emilie Rochette home in Karen Woods, early Saturday morning, about 10 o'clock, to extinguish a fire which burned a playhouse in back of the Rochette home. The cause of the fire is not known, according to the department. The building was a log cabin built by the Rochette boys, Gary and Richard, and they had their Boy Scout equipment and a bicycle stored there. They had completed the cabin during the summer. The place was a total loss. A passerby had notified the Rochettes of the fire, and they called the department. There had been no fire in the building for at least a week. The fire developed by exploding into flame. Damage was not been estimated at this time.

Local Share Of U. S. Debt $7,100,000

(Special to The Avalanche)

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 - Crawford County, by virtue of its size, is liable for 9.4 per cent of the national debt, which will climb to a record $284 billion during this fiscal year.

The local share of the debt amounts to a breath-taking $7,100,000.

In less astronomical terms, it comes to $240 per family, according to a study made by the Tax Foundation.

How long would it take the average Crawford County family to pay off this debt if it applied its entire net income to that purpose?

Based on last year's income locally, which amounted to $4,075 per household after taxes, according to Sales Management, it would take 15.4 months.

In many areas of the country, where incomes are not as high as this, the period would be proportionately longer. It would take more than 18 months in some places.

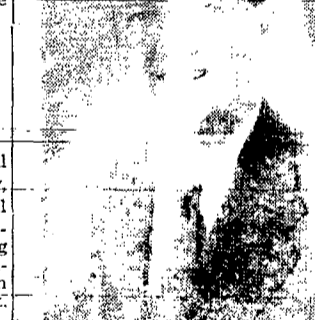

The Tax Foundation states that this year's Federal deficit will add about $75 to each family's share of the national debt. The annual interest charge alone will be around $7.8 billion, approximately $144 per family.

Total spending authorized in the past session of Congress set a peacetime record of $83 billion, states the report. The size of these commitments, which will result in a deficit of about $12 billion for the year, were termed "ominous" by the foundation's executive director, Herbert Miller.

He said the inflationary impact in subsequent years "may far outweigh any intended immediate stimulus to a lagging economy" and may preface Federal budget in the $80 billion range for several years to come.

Increased expenditures for defense might have been expected, but it is the peacetime programs that are soaring to record totals, he declared.

In commenting on the situation, Senator Byrd of Virginia warned that "deficit spending will produce serious inflation and, if continued, will destroy much of the purchasing power of the present 50-cent dollar."

Expect 400,000 In The Woods On Saturday

More than 400,000 hunters will open Michigan's firearm deer season on November 15th.

By season's end, Conservation Department officials estimate 400,000 hunters will have been afield.

The opener this year falls on Saturday, which should intensify the usually heavy hunting on the front end of the season.

Of prime interest will be the state-wide concerted special seasons. The Department has issued special permits to 55,601 licensed hunters, each of whom may hunt the entire 16-day season in their property permit area, and take a buck, doe or fawn, as they choose.

This is the first year all special seasons have run concurrently with the regular 16-day buck season. Experience with these concurrent seasons has shown them popular with hunters. Also, some deer that might otherwise be wasted are recovered by permit holders.

Again this year, the Department will operate deer checking stations along principal north-south highways where hunters may, if they like, have their deer checked for age, weight and physical development. Information gathered at these stations helps biologists with deer management programs.

Also, highway counts of deer on cars will be made and the figures statistically calculated to determine the deer kill.

In past years, this method has given quick and rather accurate estimates of the kill.

Before the season ends on Nov. 30, an estimated 450,000 resident and out-of-state hunters will have bagged some 70 to 80 thousand of Michigan's white-tailed deer, depending on their skill and on weather conditions, says Robert J. Furlong, executive secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council.

Each hunter's spend, approximately $73 a trip for equipment, food and lodging, license fees and transportation, according to a recent U. S. Fish and Wildlife survey.

"This puts Michigan's big-game revenue at $33 million," the tourist official said, "and this is a conservative estimate."

"B. J. Furlong added, 'though deer hunting ends Nov. 30, there is no closed season on Michigan vacations.'

"After the hunters have gone home to enjoy their venison or to explore the lack of it, more than 60 Michigan winter sports centers will start filling up with skiers, ice-fishermen and rabbit and bobcat hunters as well as the hunters who will just come to look and breathe deeply."

March for Muscular Dystrophy on Nov. 24

The Grayling Fire Department and members of the Crawford County Home Extension Clubs will march from door to door in Crawford County on Monday, November 24 to collect funds in the drive for Muscular Dystrophy.

The ladies of the Home Extension Clubs will begin their coverage at noon while the men of the Grayling Fire Department will follow, covering the city of Grayling at 7 p.m.

People in the county are asked to cooperate to their fullest possible extent in the drive. The local drive is the Home Extension Clubs and they hope to have a nationwide effort that has been adopted by firemen throughout the nation. Through the efforts of volunteer firemen and others throughout the nation, research projects into the mysteries of the disease of Muscular Dystrophy is being carried at an ever increasing tempo. Local citizens are urged to turn their spot lights on that evening awaiting the call of their volunteer firemen, ready as these men give of their time for this worthy project.

WED 55 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hoffman celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary on October 31st. Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman and all but four members of their families gathered at the Jack Millikin home for a chicken dinner, at which time fifty-four relatives and one guest, Miss Bette Harney, were seated. Afterwards there were cards. Moving pictures were taken of the event. Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman were presented with some lovely gifts.

The Hoffmans have been Crawford County residents since 1914, when they began farming at the old Peck's place on the east of Grayling on the north river road. They later moved to a farm about a mile farther east, and remained there until 1951 when they moved to Grayling.

New Businesses Sprouting in Crawford County

NEW YORK, Oct. 20—The spirit of individual enterprise is still flourishing in Crawford County, judging by the rate at which new businesses have been springing up.

Local residents, with the urge to be on their own, have raised the county's non-farm business population to a new high.

The story is told in a joint report, just issued by the Department of Commerce and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, based on tax reports submitted by employers under the Old Age and Survivors Insurance Program for 1956.

Many of the new ventures do not survive the difficult first five years, but enough to justify the risk entailed.

Crawford County, by virtue of this net growth, has a total of 100 business enterprises in which there are one or more employees, the report shows.

It marks a big increase over the 94 recorded three years earlier, when the same Federal agencies made their previous study.

The gain, amounting to 6.4 per cent, was greater than that attained generally in the East North Central States, an average of 4.9 per cent.

Small business is well-established in Crawford County, the figures show. There are 98 firms, or 98 per cent of the total, with less than 20 employees each. They form the backbone of the business community.

Their concentration is greater than in most parts of the United States, where small business constitutes 91 per cent of the number of going enterprises. It amounts to 91 per cent also in the East North Central States.

Of the local establishments, 67 employ from one to three people each, 19 have from four to seven and 12 from eight to nineteen. The remainder are larger concerns.

Crawford County's business firms provide gainful employment for 593 people, the report indicates. Only those subject to social security coverage are included in that total. Others are now being brought in through recent expansion of the coverage.

Nationally, it appears, we are still a nation of small business people. Three out of every four firms have fewer than four employees and only two per cent employ fifty or more.

HOME AGENT'S NOTES

"Consumers Marketing Information Cooperating with County Extension Service"

What's your grade of beef? This is one place where you can choose your own grade. Choose a high grade or a not-so-high grade, and be right every time. This fall, supplies of U. S. Choice grade beef are bigger than supplies of any other U. S. grade of beef. That's good news because beef cuts stamped "U. S. Choice" are tender and tasty. The cuts come from young beef and the lean part is really "marbled" with fat. "Marbled with fat" means that you see little flecks of fat all through the lean meat. These little flecks of fat are what makes the cut of meat tender, juicy and full of flavor.

So, when you want a beef cut to cook in the oven with dry heat, you make two decisions at the meat counter. You choose a beef cut that comes from the part of the animal that doesn't get much exercise. Perhaps you'll choose a rib roast . . . or a sirloin roast.

Then, to make doubly sure the meat will be really tender and have the best flavor, you check the grade. The tender roast will probably be U. S. Choice grade, since it is the grade in greatest abundance this fall.

You may find the roast stamped "U. S. Good." Beef cuts from this grade are not quite so tender as those from U. S. Choice, but the rib roast or sirloin will be tender enough for dry heat roasting. U. S. Prime grade meat is the top grade of all . . . and the most tender, but it is in small supply.

Maybe you don't want a roast for dry cooking. Your family may prefer a pot roast of beef with good fall vegetables and lots of gravy. For pot roasting, getting the top grade of beef is not so important. The moisture of cooking will make the meat tender and the vegetables and seasoning you use will accent the best of the beef flavor. You still have two decisions . . . the cut of beef and the grade.

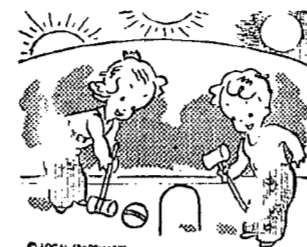

You'll probably choose a cut from that part of the animal that gets lots of exercise . . . a chuck roast or maybe a roast from the round. When you check the grade, you know that a not-so-high grade of beef is fine. The roast you choose may be stamped "U. S. Standard" or a bit higher grade, "U. S. Good." You may even select a not-so-good cut of beef that isn't graded at all . . . because the price suits you and you know that moist heat cooking will make it tender.

You make two decisions when you buy beef . . . what cut do you want and what's your grade?

Drop In State Tax Collections Brings About Latest School Crisis

SCHOOLS WITHOUT prospering industries to tax, and college students without prosperous parents both figure in the latest education crises in Michigan.

The schools, already borrowing heavily against next year's state aid payments, expect rough financial problems this winter.

Flight of students, upon whom fall the burdens of the future, is being more and more recognized.

Many state problems, and there are more of them than solutions at the moment, have their roots in money and education. Even though sizable funds have been allocated to education in the last decade, there is need for more.

Slightly more than 400 school districts have already borrowed more than $31,000,000 using state aid due next year for collateral.

When aid payments come through for use next year, they will already have been committed for these obligations.

Part of the pinch, too, comes from the necessity for paying a maximum four per cent interest on the loans for money needed this year. Next year, this cost will also be counted.

Another phase of the school problem is the new state plan to pay the $190-per-student aid, it "promised" during the controversies of the 1958 legislative session.

The top fiscal experts predict the state will fall at least $8,000,000 short.

Similarly, schools are being hit by demands for space.

They must continue to borrow millions to construct new buildings and find new sites for future buildings. The influx of 70,000 new students this year is expected to repeat itself for five more years.

Local taxpayers are voting down many bond issues for needed buildings, adding drama to the pain that is being felt at the source of all public revenue—the taxpayer's pocketbook.

Democrats in Lansing are blaming the Republican-controlled Legislature for not raising money. The whole problem has developed into a cycle.

Democratic philosophy opposes "consumer taxes," and insists that business, industry or the federal government pay the bills.

Republicans are charging that this attitude is already discouraging industries and businesses from staying in the state; is killing the goose that lays the green dollar bills.

So, Republicans have been waiting for the legislative tax study to be completed and delaying any new taxes. Democrats, fighting to keep industries in Michigan, claim they get a fair tax shake here but are not indicating they do not plan more taxes at that level.

The college student is getting a bad break in the wake of the near-panic about scientific education following the ascension of the Russian Sputnik and various American satellites.

This year, banks are arranging student loans, direct payments of tuition and fees to colleges and universities. The student and/or his family repay on a budget plan. There are more scholarships.

The latest idea is creation of a semi-official state agency to accept gifts and grants for investment.

Rep. Willard L. Bowerman (R-Lansing) will push for his plan in the 1959 legislative session. It has its roots in the techniques of high finance.

Under the system, the new authority can lend out 12½ times the size of its assets. Students are expected to repay the loans over a long-range period of time.

Pressures on higher education to educate vastly booming enrollments in the next few years are certain to come under the influence of the latest research on the subject.

Dr. John Dale Russell, director of the two-year study for the legislature, made his report recommending that the big universities get no bigger.

Without mentioning Michigan State University's 20,000 students or the University of Michigan's 28,000, the meaning was plain.

Russell's report also hinted strongly that branches of these two educational giants at Flint, Dearborn and in Oakland County should eventually become independent.

Public concern for problems of higher education has not been strong. But it can be assumed more interest will develop rapidly when more and more graduating high school students are told they cannot be accepted for college training.

We're Proud Of You!

Naturally there were many things about last Tuesday's election that were not resolved as the Avalanche would like to have seen them. However there is one point of the vote which should be brought to the attention of all — that was the vote of the electors of Crawford County on the two jail referendums.

While the public spirited citizens of Crawford County were passing the two referendums with good, big majorities, the voters of Otsego County were for the second time turning a like proposal down.

Likewise with our new school addition, the problem was explained to the voters and they manfully stepped forward to accept a further tax burden to solve our own problems. Elsewhere in the north, up to five elections have had to be held before such propositions could receive the necessary majority.

The Avalanche says, "Thanks", and "Hearty Congratulations" to an electorate that is willing to accept their responsibilities and to face their own problems without running to Lansing or Washington, for help. The American spirit of looking ahead and planning to solve one's own problems is not dead in Crawford County — R. W. S.

The Miracle . . .

Hurry, hurry, prepare the turkey, deck the table, trim the lovely Christmas tree. How many movements will you perform from now to Christmas time in order to make your home a joyous place for your family and friends? If you can count them, you're a genius. Try it. Even for the chores of every day, they run into thousands, representing a miracle of muscular coordination. For these special holidays you'll be doing a lot of extra running to and from the kitchen, leaping out of your chair to answer the doorbell, hugging your dear ones and stretching laughingly to reach the topmost branches of the tree.

Pause to think, in festive seasons like these, of the child with muscular dystrophy who can't do any of these things, because of a muscle-wasting disease for which neither the cause nor the cure is yet known. However much he would like to help with all these exciting preparations, there's very little he's able to do. For the most part, he's forced to sit on the sidelines and watch.

Muscular dystrophy afflicts nearly a quarter million Americans. The majority of them are children and only in rare instances do they survive to maturity. To give a richer, more meaningful life to those who now sit in unwilling idleness, Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc. sponsors a variety program of patient services including educational and recreational activities. And, to give them the hope of a brighter future, MDA supports a broad research program which may, some day, come up with the answers to this tragic disease.

THE QUIET HOUR

So, when you open the door to a neighbor this fall, and she tells you she's a volunteer in the March for Muscular Dystrophy, open your heart, too. You have the power to work miracles. Give generously.

Mary Ann brought up the meat from the bear she shot on the all-woman's bear hunt, all packaged and frozen. She says it was on the hunt, including the 1000s and dog handlers, is welcome to a package of it. Just stop here at the bar and pick it up.

I want to thank the ladies who invited me on the nice spare rib supper last Thursday night at the Arnold Shelys, and don't say men can't cook.

Income Tax Tips, Aids

By Clifford E. Peterson

This week's column will be devoted to the effects of "timing" in connection with income taxes. A taxpayer's lifetime all of his income will be subject to the same tax. However, in the case of income taxes, the rate of tax varies according to the amount of income. The taxpayer who will be subject to the highest rates of tax will be the one who will have the highest income in the year in which he will be subject to the highest rates of tax. The taxpayer who will be subject to the lowest rates of tax will be the one who will have the lowest income in the year in which he will be subject to the lowest rates of tax.

All taxpayers are based upon the amount of income in the year in which they are subject to the highest rates of tax. The taxpayer who will be subject to the highest rates of tax will be the one who will have the highest income in the year in which he will be subject to the highest rates of tax. The taxpayer who will be subject to the lowest rates of tax will be the one who will have the lowest income in the year in which he will be subject to the lowest rates of tax.

In connection with the cash basis of accounting, the taxpayer who will be subject to the highest rates of tax will be the one who will have the highest income in the year in which he will be subject to the highest rates of tax. The taxpayer who will be subject to the lowest rates of tax will be the one who will have the lowest income in the year in which he will be subject to the lowest rates of tax.

PERSONAL: To Young Men Who Drive

(Editor's Note: Since 1947 the base rates for insurance on automobiles principally driven by young men between the ages of 16 and 25 have risen. The following article, reprinted from the Lakeville, Conn. Journal, is a hard-hitting one which does a fine job of explaining the situation.)

The facts are in, boys, and you just don't make the grade. You, as a group between the ages of 16 and 25, think you're the world's best drivers; but the low down is this: you're the country's worst. The facts are in and your insurance rate has gone up anywhere from 20 to 50 percent.

Think it over, lads... and dads. They don't care whether you're handsome and have the females in a dither; they don't care whether you have a piece of junk lovingly turned to a raceway song; they don't care if you can name every part of a motor ever built or that you can rebuild one with your eyes closed. All they care about is poor performance on the road.

Frankly, sons, your performance stinks. You as a group are a menace to society... and to yourselves. Who says so? Not us. The insurance companies say so and they know. They don't know if you own a Ferrari or a Ford. All they care about is facts, and the facts are you have the worst record of any age group in the country. And getting worse.

And getting worse! Think that over, fathers and mothers. Proof? Car insurance costs have gone up sharply in the year only for boys in this age group. You are still boys, boys.

You aren't a man unless you can handle cars, among other things, and you aren't handling them properly, though you have plenty of know-how to do so. So, obviously, you aren't handling yourselves. That's the real answer.

Don't blame this on the insurance companies. They just go by the number of accidents, the number of arrests, the number of maimed and killed which you have strewn over the roads of the states.

So you, as a group are experts, eh? You're suckers for your own buildup. That wouldn't matter so much if you only took the rap.

It's not only you who gets killed or hurt... it's the girl with you, it's the guy down the street, or the lady in the next county who trusted you to act like a man. Or even like a boy who still knows he's a boy and doesn't pretend any different. Sure, you never meant that accident, and wouldn't want the next one you're going to have. And of course it never is your fault. You have a heart of gold, are kind to your mother... and you go out on the highways and act like a fool. A real fool!

That's the truth and the insurance figures bear it out. Maybe the fifty extra bucks this year will give you pause. Of course you may be the exception that proves the rule. Certainly everyone of you isn't that bad.

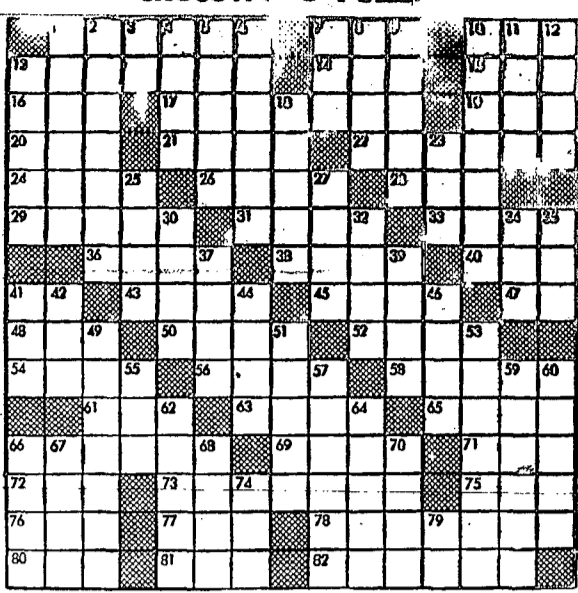

But as a group you are, and what are you going to do about it? Are you going to be one of the gang that pays homage to the hot rod artist who ought to be in jail and will be soon, or dead? Are you going to go along for the ride so as not to be chicken and let some bragging twirp at the wheel gamble with your future? Are you going to encourage your buddies to keep boosting your own costs of driving a car? What's the percentage of acting like that?

You wouldn't let this guy hit you over the head with a hammer! Why let him drive you into a post? You wouldn't let him steal fifty bucks out of your pocket, yet he's already done that this year.

And you, the worst offenders... you spoiled brats thinking you can handle 130 horsepower when you can't handle one boypower, what are you going to do

The Wilcoons got married last month. Each day Jim and Anne count the hours 'til they're together. They're eager to share the present... happy to dream of the future.
Jim figures that anything so good to come home to needs an extra measure of care. And he intends to provide it.
For one thing, he's already signed up for Blue Cross-Blue Shield protection. Jim knows it offers the most care when it's most needed... both today and in the future when youngsters start coming along. It saves him worry about unexpected hospital and medical bills, too.
But how about you? Don't you think your family ought to have the security only Blue Cross-Blue Shield provides? Ask about it, especially the new "M-75" medical plan.

ADVERTISING IN NEWSPAPERS

IS ACCEPTED WITH AUTHORITY

Most of us can trace our newspaper reading back to childhood's first interest in comics. Later, we graduated to sports and through to help wanted, apartments to rent, baby care, bridge, gardening and politics.

The Crawford County Avalanche is the authority on what is happening at home, it chronicles births and deaths and the weather, it keeps women in touch with what's doing and who is going where, and men abreast of life on the farm and in town.

Largely, its stories are of every day living, the simple homey events that touch all our lives.

More people than ever before buy and read The Crawford County Avalanche. The printed word carries authority.

For what is showing at the theater or featured at the stores, we turn the pages of the newspaper.

A man may want to buy a new car, a radio or a power tool, he may have heard all about the advantages of this or that model but he still wants to "read all about it," to see the claims set down in authoritative black and white for his careful study.

Whether it is a new cosmetic, a new rug, a dress or decorating device that has her current interest, a woman looks to her newspaper advertising for the guiding facts. She too, wants to "read all about it."

Truly the newspaper is the meeting place and the market place of the world.

The Crawford County Avalanche
